

Empowering Cultural Professionals: The SOS Heritage Online Course

The SOS Heritage project is excited to announce that pre-registration is now open for its free online course on cultural property protection and risk management. The course, which will be launched on May 31, 2024, is offered in English and provides valuable training for professionals in cultural heritage institutions and those seeking a career in cultural property risk management.

The SOS Heritage Online Course is designed for maximum accessibility, using the user-friendly iMooX platform.

The course is entirely free and available worldwide, and its modular structure allows participants to learn at their own pace, fitting the coursework into their busy schedules.

The course is aimed at equipping participants with the knowledge and skills to navigate the challenges posed by climate change and other threats to cultural heritage. Participants will gain expertise in understanding the impact of climate change on cultural property, implementing effective risk management strategies, and utilizing digital tools for risk assessment and mitigation.

The course is particularly suited for professionals with a foundation in cultural property protection or those seeking to enter the field of cultural property risk management. The SOS Heritage project encourages all interested individuals to pre-register on the iMooX platform to secure their spot in the course.

For more detailed information about the course content, structure, and target audience, please visit the SOS Heritage Course website. The SOS Heritage project is committed to empowering cultural heritage professionals with the tools and knowledge necessary to safeguard our shared cultural treasures.

To pre-register for the course click on this link: <https://imoox.at/course/SOSHeritage>